

Eat the Rich

Eat the Rich

Roast them, boil them or bake them
Cut them into thin strips and gently sauté them
Add potatoes and another veg
Perhaps on couscous with some vegetable stew
Or maybe hot and spicy with rice.

Eat the Rich

But first herd them into ghettos
To live in damp slum tenements shared with rats
Make their filthy streets unsafe
With gangs of feral kids that scream and fight
And race around in stolen cars

Eat the Rich

Make them work for many hours
And give them just enough to pay their rent
And precious little else
Bombard them with adverts promising so much
If they only work some more

Eat the Rich

Fatten them with greasy food
Burgers, hot dogs, kebabs, anything fast
Plenty of sugary treats
Wash it all down with copious alcohol
To take them beyond caring

Eat the Rich

Give them some minimal care to grow enough to make a decent meal
Teach them to accept their lot.
if they just toil and sweat and pay their dues
A better life will come

Eat the Rich

Let them run in field and woods
Chase them with horse, hound and great ballyhoo
Until they can run no more

They have a fair start, must have our stirrup cup
Keeps out the cold don't you know.

Eat the Rich
Let the dogs bring them down
Rend them limb from limb; then pull them away
The offal for them, choice cuts for us
Hold it high, sound the horn, drink the blood
Then back for the feast to come.

Eat the Rich
And now most shocking of all
Their art on public display, their yachts for holidays their land free to roam, their palaces to live
Sell all their stocks and share with everyone
Eat the rich and feed the poor
